"May you be a 'yes' to the question, 'Hav Jesus risen from the dead?' And may you come to see – may you understand that you are the good news. You are the gospel." — Rob Bell, NOOMA: You pdf

7 Colours of the Rainbow and the 7 Chakras

The Chakras

Energy centres of the soul. Each Chakra has it's own function and their own unique powers.

There are actually more than 7 Chakras (a total of 13 in all),

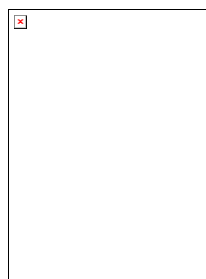

These 7 Chakras are the most powerful and they are located along the spine.

The 7 Chakra system is the most conventional system to follow when obtaining 'enlightenment'.

The other 6 Chakras are less powerful but when included in the conventional system it becomes the Tree of Life →

In many grimoires and ancient texts, the code word for Chakra is GOD OR GODDESS, So each centre within you is A GOD or a GODDESS.

Each Chakra is associated with a COLOUR, MANTRA and SYMBOL :

7th Chakra – I understand – You have reached god/goddess level

6th Chakra - I see – Opened your Third Eye – See with New eyes or New Lenses.

5th Chakra - I speak – Higher intuition – that allows you to connect to higher wisdom and guidance.

4th Chakra - I love – We feel connected to other beings. We receive inspiration and wisdom from higher Charas/Gods.

3rd Chakra - I do – The seat of power, control, freedom, or autonomy by opening our consciousness to the will of God and peace.

2nd Chakra – I feel – The seat of creative energy and what the body needs (sexuality/food, etc.)

1st Chakra – I am – The seat of the Goddess Kundilini our 'life force'. When we are grounded at this first level we trust the universe to provide....

The 7 colours of the Chakras vs the 7 colours of the Rainbow :...

is one we all can share. The experience often has a magical quality to it as though it is stirring some deep inner response. Such is the wonder of the light that forms the colours of the rainbow. The heavenly principle is to GIVE AS WE RECEIVE. We are not intended to absorb the light of the rainbow, enlightenment, joy and happiness, rather we are intended to transmit it; and in doing so to unfold its meaning for others, and for ourselves too." <http://www.spiritualwisdom.org.uk/colours-of-the-rainbow.htm> —

"The rainbow represents the regenerate spiritual person – one who has lived out the path of enlightenment, whose potential has opened out like the lotus flower of the east, each stage represented by a new colour developing out of the one before

The main seven colours symbolise wholeness or holiness. There are a variety of rainbows sometimes seen around those in the spiritual realms – the rainbow of the 'aura', as it is sometimes called, picturing the spiritual state of the person.

Yoga teaches that there are seven centers or chakras in the human body. These are spiritual centers – you will not find them described in a materialistic medical book. “ <http://www.spiritualwisdom.org.uk/colours-of-the-rainbow2.htm>

7 Chakra Table:

Chakra	Location	Symbol	Colour	Element	Sense	Body Parts	Mind and Spirit
Crown Chakra 7th Chakra  Sahasrara Chakra	top of head	thousand-petal Lotus flower	violet	inner light	empathy	brain, nervous system, pineal gland	the Crown, or Seventh, Chakra is a source of divine energy and self-realization. It is the gateway to the other world. An open and balanced Crown Chakra allows us to experience oneness with God and unity with all beings. We surrender to Divine Will. We can experience enlightenment, inner light, higher consciousness and higher intelligence.
Third Eye Chakra 6th Chakra  Ajna Chakra	center of forehead	two-petal Lotus flower	indigo	inner sound	Sensory Perception (ESP), clairvoyance, clairaudience	forehead, temples, facial nerves, pituitary gland, endocrine system.	the Third Eye, or Sixth, Chakra belongs to the spiritual realm and vision. It is home of the spirit and the part of consciousness that influences our actions and our life. An open and balanced Third Eye Chakra allows us to look beyond our own issues to see a more complete, "enlightened" picture of reality. We become aware of the motivation behind our actions. We may experience extra sensory perception (ESP), inner sound and clairvoyance.
Throat Chakra 5th Chakra  Vishuddha Chakra	base of throat	sixteen-petal Lotus flower	sky blue	ether (crossover between the physical and spiritual worlds)	hearing	throat, neck, arms, hands, thyroid gland	the throat is our instrument of communication, thus the Throat, or Fifth Chakra is the seat of communication and expression of all that is happening in our consciousness. An open and balanced Throat Chakra allows us to communicate truthfully and express our feelings, as well as our creativity. We will be able to receive, allowing abundance and grace to be experienced. We will listen to our intuition and connect to a higher wisdom and guidance.
Heart Chakra 4th Chakra  Anahata Chakra	center of chest, heart	twelve-petal Lotus flower	green	air	touch	circulatory system, lungs, chest area	the Heart, or Fourth, Chakra is the joining point between the higher and lower chakras. Here we experience perceptions of love, emotions, compassion, and balance. An open and balanced Heart Chakra will allow us to feel connected to other beings, to understand unconditional love, to accept others and not judge them or condemn them. We also experience a lightness of being that is nourished by the inspiration and wisdom of the higher chakras and strengthened by the grounding energy of the lower chakras.
Solar Plexus 3rd Chakra  Manipura Chakra	solar plexus	ten-petal Lotus flower	yellow	fire (or Sun)	sight	solar plexus, muscles, skin, digestion, liver, eyes, face	the Solar Plexus, or Third, Chakra is the seat of our desire for power, control, freedom, or autonomy. A balanced Solar Plexus Chakra will enable us to be confident and comfortable with ourselves, while opening our consciousness to the will of God and peace. Our creativity and work will manifest easily.
Sacral 2nd Chakra  Svadisthana Chakra	center of abdomen	six-petal Lotus flower	orange	water	taste	sexual organs, reproductive system.	the Sacral, or Second, Chakra is the seat of our creative energy and is associated with what the body needs and what it finds pleasurable (sexuality/food). A balanced Sacral Chakra enables us to accept and solve the challenges of life in a creative manner; to understand and incorporate our sexuality responsibly, and to feel and express our emotions.
Root Chakra 1st Chakra	base of spine	four-petal Lotus flower	red	earth	smell	lymph system, skeleton, elimination, central nervous	The Root, or First, Chakra is the seat of the "Kundalini" or life force. Our feelings of security, trust, and survival

A Christian New Age Blog Entry

Labels: irony, satire

I was very surprised to stumble along the following blogpost over the weekend. I've come to know this particular blogger as a person with radically fundamentalistic views regarding the Christian religion.

Here, suddenly, she places an article on buddhist prayer, linking it to the colours of the rainbow. I would have given her credit if she included any explanatory remarks, but the only piece of information is the heading, "7 Colours of the Rainbow and the 7 Chakras," leaving the article open to any possible interpretation.

Two thoughts spring to mind.

First, since when does the colours rainbow signify anything buddhist? If I understand the Genesis story correctly, the rainbow was given as proof of God's promise to Noah. Therefore, she must be implying that the Bible is actually linking with Buddhist religion to help us Christians with meditation and prayer. That's awfully nice of her, but I'm not going to pray any of these mantras soon, thank you. As far as I can remember, the rainbow has Christian symbolism, reminding us of God who keeps his promises. Anybody else who wants to utilise the symbol for some other meaning – like DTW's blog post, or the use of the rainbow as symbol for the gay movement – do this on their own conscience. The Bible was first. And if a Christian blog such as DTW posts new age stuff without any explanation one would be bound to think they are dabbling with syncretism.

Second: I could invite the devil into my soul without knowing it by reading this post! DTW should be on the look out that she doesn't get bound by any demons by placing curses on her through this obvious dabbling with other religions and philosophies.

For clarity: As I've read through previous entries of this blog I came to the conclusion that a Christian who reads stuff from people with demonic, new age or emerging church links, will open themselves to creating a stronghold for a demonic force in their own lives. DTW is doing just that with this specific entry.

So, somebody, please help me out here: As I've read quite a few books from her lists of emerging church thinkers, does anybody know an exorcist close at hand that can come pray with me? I really don't want to become caught in the devil's trap unknowingly through my interest in other Christian's thoughts! Posted by Guillaume Smit

I ... I ... am speechless!

For now.
